

SAPA Global Communication Team

Fuel the Growth Engine — Join Us in 2026

For 33 years, across 7 chapters in the U.S., the Sino-American Pharmaceutical Professionals Association (SAPA) has connected scientists, entrepreneurs, and industry leaders building the future of medicine. Our volunteers are the heartbeat of that mission — and our Global Communication Team is how SAPA's story reaches the world.

We're a “One-SAPA” community of content creators, editors, visual storytellers, career-switchers, and industry veterans from BMS, Merck, PwC, and leading biotech firms — collaborating across a 7-channel media network and 11 subteams to reach biopharma professionals across North America and Asia.

We're looking for passionate thinkers, connectors, coordinators, and creators — people who can turn an event overview into a magnet, a recap into a story, and an event flyer into a reason to RSVP. Prior experience in marketing, content creation, video, or WeChat is a plus, but drive and editorial instinct matter most.

Open Roles — 2026

Every role rewards editorial instinct — whether your craft is the written word, the visual story, or the relationship behind both.

Email Team Lead

Shape how SAPA shows up in inboxes. Write subject lines that get opened and copy that converts. Lead our subscriber growth initiative.

WeChat Team Lead

Shape the editorial voice of SAPA's largest community across long-form and short-form content. Lead a team spanning every SAPA chapter.

Website Team Lead

Steward sapaweb.org — the digital home for flagship summits like the JPM Investment Forum and Annual Science & Careers Symposium.

Photographer Team Lead

Capture the moments that define SAPA — keynotes, panels, networking, candid stories. Build the visual archive that fuels every channel.

LinkedIn Team Lead

Grow our fastest-growing professional channel. Craft posts that make biotech thought leaders in NYC, Boston, and Philadelphia stop scrolling.

Video Team Lead

Lead our YouTube, X, and WeChat Video presence. Produce event recaps and an interview series featuring SAPA leaders and industry guests.

External Media Team Lead

Be SAPA's bridge to the industry. Pitch and place stories in major outlets. Build relationships with CSSAs, biotech clusters, and associations.

Reporter Team Lead

Cover flagship events end-to-end. Interview speakers, synthesize insights, and write the recaps that become our most-shared content.

2026 Flagship Initiatives

One-SAPA Storytelling Program

Unify WeChat, LinkedIn, Email, Website, Video, X, and External Media into one narrative engine where every chapter's voice amplifies the collective SAPA brand.

Executive Mentorship Pipeline

Work directly with event chairs and sponsors from BMS, Merck, PwC, and top biotechs. Real projects. Real executives. Real career acceleration.

SAPA Ambassador Network

Appoint campus representatives at leading universities (Rutgers, Columbia, NYU, Cornell, CUNY, and beyond) to bridge academia and industry.

Smarter Workflows, Sharper Craft

Grow through shared templates, analytics, and AI-assisted production — so our creators focus on voice, nuance, and story, not logistics.

From Our Alumni

"Leading communications for SAPA's flagship annual events taught me how to rally a team under a tight timeline, coordinate across dozens of stakeholders, and deliver polished promotion at scale. Those are the exact muscles I flex today as a hiring manager — and they're the skills I look for in every candidate I interview."

— Former Communication Lead, now Principal Scientist and Hiring Manager at a global pharma

"SAPA's Communication Team gave me the portfolio, the mentorship, and the network that shaped the next chapter of my career. The people I met here are still the first people I call."

— Former Email Team Lead, PhD in Chemical Engineering, now Consultant at MBB

"I joined SAPA as a graduate student looking for industry exposure. Within a year, I was collaborating with event chairs on flagship conference planning and promotion, reaching thousands of biopharma professionals. No internship could have given me that kind of access."

— Former WeChat Team member, PhD in Medicine, now Manager at a top-20 BD firm

"Leading External Media at SAPA gave me something no classroom could: the experience of making connections from scratch, rallying cross-functional teams to launch new initiatives, and turning ambitious ideas into published results. It's the muscle I flex every day in my current role."

— Former External Media Manager, PhD in Engineering, now Associate Director at a global pharma

"SAPA is where I learned to translate science into strategy — to speak to both bench scientists and boardrooms in the same breath. That dual fluency has defined every role I've held since, and the relationships I built on this team remain among the most valuable of my career."

— Former Event Coordinator, PhD in Biologics, now Executive Director at a global biotech

Why Join?

- ✓ A network that compounds — Direct access to event chairs, sponsors, and executives at every major SAPA summit
- ✓ Portfolio-ready work — Feature articles, multi-platform campaigns, video series, and published industry coverage
- ✓ Mentorship from industry veterans — Real executive guidance, not just peer collaboration
- ✓ A voice that travels — Your work reaches biopharma professionals across North America and Asia

Join the Engine

 communication@sapaweb.org  sapaweb.org  Scan to apply

群聊: 26SAPA-SCS-宣传志
愿者招募

Build your network. Sharpen your craft. Lead the engine.